

CTA L-202 Motor Repair for the Little Yellow Engine that CAN

Want to change the “could” back to “can” and make a lot of kids (young and old) happy? This historic (built in 1908) locomotive once plied the streets of Chicago hauling street car parts and equipment to the various shops of the Chicago City Railways - Chicago Surface Lines and the Chicago Transit Authority. It found its way to the Fox River Trolley Museum in 1979 where it pulled the “Big Red Caboose” along the Fox River to the delight and education of thousands of kids. But alas “old age” set in and its motors began to fail and are in need of “fixin.” The motors have been removed and are being professionally rehabilitated. Help us “ fill the hole” by getting the motors back in the trucks (wheel assembly) and the trucks back under the locomotive and L-202 rolling again. Then come out to the Museum and look at the big smiles on the faces of happy kids.” The cost of repairs and transportation is $20,000.00.
